By GENE KRAMER
Associated Press Writer
PRAGUE (AP) — Most occupation troops appeared today to be withdrawing from Czechoslovakia's major cities to new positions in the countryside. Down town Prague was generally clear of Russian tanks for the first time since the invasion three weeks ago.

The Soviets during the night evacuated the capital's last tank detachment, in a park between the main railroad station and Wenceslas Square.

Similar evacuations were reported from Bratislava, Kosice and Brno, the latter preparing for several thousand foreign visitors to its annual international trade fair starting Sunday.

A number of planes were heard taking off from Prague during the night. This could indicate a thinning out of the Soviet troops, but there was no immediate confirmation.

Soviet military police were on the roads outside the capital, directing traffic, stopping trains and holding railway crossing gates open for convoys, jeeps and tanks.

A heavy concentration of airborne and armored troops remained near Prague's international airport, where most scheduled flights resumed this week. Occasional armored cars were still seen in the city and some tanks were still inside the Soviet Embassy's grounds, but they were hidden from public view.

At the downtown tank park early today, the only evidences of the three-week occupation were the marks left by the tank treads and a smoky fire burning empty army supply cartons and discarded copies of Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper.

The major part of the occupation force, estimated at 650,000 men at one time, was believed to be still in the country to back up political pressure being exerted on Czechoslovakia's liberal Communist leaders by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vassily Kuznetsov.

Kuznetsov, who arrived last Friday, discussed "problems of mutual interest" in the present context of Wednesday with National Assembly President Josef Smrkovsky, Prague Radio reported. The assembly is expected on Friday to pass into law the major Soviet demands for press controls and a ban on opposition political parties.

Conservation District board of supervisors, was named "Outstanding Supervisor of the Year" and Thomas Jones, a cooperator of the same district, was named "Watershed Man of the Year."

During the morning program, supervisors and visitors heard report on Resource Conservation and Development programs in Arkansas by State Conservation Service, The Arkansas River Valley RC&D Program and others under development give local people an effective organization for economic and social development. Davey said.

Keith Jackson, Executive Director, Arkansas Soil and Water Conservation Commission stressed the value of conservation education in public schools and the need for even wider support of essay contests on conservation which are sponsored throughout the state by local Garden Clubs.

In a special report on the area's forest industry, Max Bolar, woodland conservationist from the SCS State Office in Little Rock, said that proper woodland management would justify four additional pulp mills and three more veneer mills in Southwest Arkansas. Statewide, $500 million, about the same as that from cotton and chicken combined, he said.

Prior to adjournment the supervisors established an advisory committee to be composed of one supervisor from each of the 12 districts in the area. Members will be named by their respective boards and will meet each year prior to the area annual meeting to evaluate problems and needs and to propose activities for areawide consideration.

The meeting was held at the Town & Country. Everyone enjoyed the meeting and the hospitality shown by Hope people and the management of the Town & Country.

Tennessee was the first southern state to be readmitted to the Union after the Civil War. It had also been the last to secede.

courage of any six men I have ever known," Faubus said of Wallace.

He said the two had been friends for years and that "the more I knew him, the more my admiration grew."

Those that think things have gone too far for Wallace to straighten out are wrong, Faubus said.

"I'll guarantee when he takes over the office of the presidency things will straighten out."

"This is a bigger crowd than I could ever draw in Arkansas," Faubus told Wallace, "and I never did lose here. That ought to be a pretty good indication of how the vote should come out here."

Wallace delivered one of his typical campaign speeches, attacking the "guideline writers," declaring there wasn't 10 cents worth of difference between the national Republican and Democratic parties and attacking what he termed the liberal press.

Wallace drew standing ovations when he began talking about the Vietnam war, saying if United States allies in Western Europe and non-communist Asia refused to help in the war, he would move to cut off foreign aid to those countries and ask them to pay back their World War I debts.

If the Paris peace talks aren't successful, Wallace said, and if military determine it to be possible, "we've going to end the war militarily and bring the boys home."

Wallace also said he would recommend the removal of the tax-exempt status of "multibillion dollar foundations" and use those revenues to give "every working man" an increase in the personal income tax deduction from $600 to $1,000 or $1,200.

On other matters, the former Alabama governor drew applause for such remarks as:

—"When I'm elected I am, within the law, going to turn back your schools to you."

—He would recall the guideline writers to Washington, throw their briefcases in the Potomac River and get them "off the backs of the taxpayers."

—"Both national party leaders have cowered to every anarchist that roams the street."

—"It takes the whole armed services of the United States now to hold a national convention. Thank goodness for the police in Little Rock and Chicago."

Wallace also said he was "sick and tired" of persons in the North calling Southerners "rednecks" but "we are going to show them there are a lot of rednecks come the fifth of November."

Felld Sets Budget Meet

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. Tabbot Felld Jr. of Hope, chairman of the Legislative Council, said Wednesday the council will open its budget hearings a week earlier this year.

Felld said this was necessary because of more budgets to be considered.

The hearings will start at 1:30 p.m. Oct. 22 and continue for two weeks.

SAYS SENATE (from page one)

appropriations in the Senate last week, according to the Congressional Quarterly, there was no debate on the sections that would cripple HEW's power in integration efforts.

The bill passed the Senate 45-8 and it had passed the House on June 26. The amendment was tacked on with a non-record vote by Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, D-Miss.

The Senate modified Whitten's amendments and a joint House-Senate conference committee will study the bills and arrive at a compromise bill. Young said that as far as his organization's cause of concern, the bill won't be changed unless it is strengthened.

Young said he was told Monday by Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., of the bill's passage.

Freedom Inc., members took a large share of the credit for the bill's passage. Norman Polk of Warren, president of the Arkansas branch, said telegrams containing 900 names each were sent to the Arkansas congressional delegation from Warren alone.

Young said persons from 17 states had become active in Freedom Inc. He said the organization hoped to have an amendment to the U.S. Constitution introduced to give control of schools to the states and local school districts so the "federal government has nothing to say about it."

NEW YORK (AP) — Francis T. Leary, 54, vice president and executive editor of United Press International, died in his New Rochelle home early today. Leary had been with the former United Press then UPI for 35 years. He joined UPI after a year with the Chicago Daily News.

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP) — William K. Whitford, 67, board chairman of Gulf Oil Corp. since 1960, was killed Wednesday night in an auto accident near his estate. Whitford worked his way to the top of the industry after starting in 1923 as an oil field roustabout in California.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Hans Christian Adamson, 78, a retired Air Force colonel who was one of six men who drifted on a rubber raft in the Pacific for 24 days with Eddie Rickenbacker during World War II, died Wednesday. The Rickenbacker party was on an inspection trip for the War Department in 1942 when their plane was forced down.

fire with machine guns atop armored personnel carriers. Fourteen enemy soldiers and one American were reported killed in the brief fight. Another five U.S. soldiers were wounded. Two trucks, an armored personnel carrier and a helicopter were slightly damaged, a U.S. spokesman said.

Meanwhile, the allied command in Saigon reported that U.S., South Vietnamese and enemy casualties all dropped sharply last week, reflecting a slowdown in ground action after two weeks of intensified fighting. American casualties were 195 killed and 1,400 wounded, about half the total reported the week before.

One U.S. adviser at Tay Ninh said the majority of the enemy force has withdrawn "but he may have withdrawn only a short way or into a different area." He can come right back.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 22 enemy soldiers had been killed in fighting at Tay Ninh since Wednesday. Government losses were put at 13 killed and 91 wounded.

Between 800 and 1,500 men were estimated to have invaded Tay Ninh and its suburbs before dawn Wednesday. "I think they missed their chance," said one U.S. adviser. "They really could have punched in Wednesday morning, but now we have the troops to stop them."

Opposition to Fortas Mounting

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators trying to block Abe Fortas' appointment as chief justice say the Senate Judiciary Committee decision to reopen hearings was a victory and will add new ammunition to their fight.

The more facts that are brought out, Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., said Wednesday, the greater the opposition will be.

But the committee's decision to vote on Fortas' nomination next Tuesday at 11 a.m. after the reopened hearings also was hailed as a major breakthrough by Fortas' supporters who say they have the votes for approval.

The committee was awaiting word from Fortas, who has been vacationing in Connecticut, whether he will accept an invitation to reappear for the new hearings.

An Associated Press poll earlier this week showed that once the issue gets out of committee, 46 to 26 senators favor Fortas; enough for confirmation but not the two-thirds needed to cut off a threatened filibuster.

Subject of the reopened hearings will be opponents' allegations that Fortas has been improperly involved in executive and legislative matters since being named an associate Supreme Court Justice in 1965.

Fortas underwent four days of questioning at hearings in July, after President Johnson nominated him to move up and succeed retiring Earl Warren.

Also invited to testify at the new hearings were Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford and Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo.

And the committee said it was issuing subpoenas for Undersecretary of the Treasury Joseph W. Barry; former White House speech writer Richard Goodwin; Devlet W. Pierson, a special assistant at the White House, and Daniel Yergin, author of an article in the July 22 issue of New York magazine.

Yergin's article reported that after Goodwin had worked for two days straight on Johnson's 1966 State of the Union message to Congress, the President handed it to Fortas and Clifford and they "began chopping it up."

Allott, an Appropriations Committee member, has told newsmen that Fortas took part in the drafting of an appropriations bill amendment this year providing for Secret Service protection for presidential candidates.

When Fortas appeared before the Judiciary committee in July, he testified in answer to a question on another matter that "it is not true that I have ever helped to frame a measure since I have been a justice of the court."

Clear Skies, Cool Nights for Arkansas

Clear skies and cool nights are expected to continue in Arkansas through Saturday as a Canadian high pressure system remains over most of the nation.

No rainfall has been associated with the system since it moved over the area early this week.

ern Europe.

The Western allies maintain only a small military presence in Berlin which is separated from West Germany by 100 miles of Communist-controlled land. The U.S. force numbers only about 3,500 men.

The Russians and East Germans have put the heat on West Berlin several times over the past few years, with the most serious threat occurring in 1961.

At that time, President John F. Kennedy mobilized 148,000 U.S. military reservists and reinforced American units in Germany with 40,000 additional troops. That crisis lasted about a year.

Although the United States has expressed deep concern about developments in Czechoslovakia, all signs indicate there will be no immediate reinforcement of American troops in Europe.

Over-all U.S. armed strength in Europe totals some 300,000 men, with about 200,000 of these deployed with the 7th Army in Germany.

Military authorities said they doubt that the United States will send back to Europe the 33,000 Army and Air Force troops brought home gradually since last spring in action aimed at cutting the U.S. balance of payments deficit.

Charges Bennett Ruled Favorable to Firm in Which He Owned Stock

PORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — A deposition filed in U.S. District Court here Wednesday indicates Bruce Bennett issued an attorney general's opinion favorable to Arkansas Loan & Thrift Corp. while he held stock in the firm.

The deposition stated the opinion concerned Arkansas Loan & Investment Co., which was a wholly-owned subsidiary of AL&T. AL&T and a sister firm, Savings Guaranty Corp., were declared insolvent Tuesday by U.S. District Court Judge John E. Miller.

The deposition also indicates that Bennett, while holding the office of attorney general, was legal counsel for AL&T and that, in 1965, he and others sold to AL&T another firm for $64,000.

Bennett could not be reached for comment.

Robert Watson of Fort Worth, Tex., attorney for the Securities and Exchange Commission, took the deposition from Ernest A. Bartlett, board chairman and chief executive officer of AL&T.

The action against AL&T and related companies began March 11 when the SEC filed suit. Two days later, the firms were placed in receivership.

The deposition from Bartlett indicates that Bennett was paid a fee for legal services performed for AL&T, but does not indicate the sum.

In Louisiana, a controversy exists because of a similar situation involving Louisiana Atty. Gen. Jack Gremliff and Louisiana Loan & Thrift Corp., a sister firm of AL&T.

Gremliff says he was paid a $10,000 fee for work he did as a private attorney for the Louisiana firm while holding the office of attorney general of Louisiana. He also has said he and his partners received loans totaling some $150,000.

Bennett signed the opinion?

A—He or one of his assistants. It would have been his domain. He was responsible for it. But Mr. Bill Smith, the private attorney of the governor, wrote it."

Bartlett identified this attorney as William J. Smith. He was a legal aide to former Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who held office from 1954 through 1966, and is a member of the Little Rock law firm of Smith, Williams, Friday & Bowen.

Also in the deposition, Watson exhibited a copy of a letter dated Sept. 14, 1965, from Bennett, as attorney general, to Paul Van Dalsem, who at the time was a state representative from Perry County.

That letter states that United Loan & Investment Co., by its charter, had authority to issue investment bonds.

"At the time this opinion was rendered, Mr. Bruce Bennett—or his wife, Rebecca—are stockholders, is that right?" Watson asked.

"Yes," Bartlett answered.

Watson said: "He owned on that day 42,220 shares of Class A stock according to the records."

Arkansas has no conflict-of-interest statute, and, unlike Louisiana, has no state agency empowered to investigate and rule on possible conflicts of interest involving public officials. The Louisiana Ethics Commission is expected to rule soon on Gremliff's involvement with LL&T.

Testimony in the deposition, taken Aug. 21, also says that Bennett, while attorney general, obtained loans from AL&T and, at one time, owed as much as $25,000 to the firm.

In the deposition, Watson asks: "Did the attorney general of Arkansas, Mr. Bruce Bennett, register any kind of legal opinion on the legality of the charter (of United Loan & Investment Co.)?"

Answer—"William Smith of Smith, Bowen, Friday and Williams of Little Rock wrote an opinion as a special attorney general and, of course, it carried Bruce Bennett's signature."

Q—Mr. Bennett signed the opinion?

NO. ONE MEETS

Wesleyan Service Guild No. One of the United Methodist Church met Monday evening, September 9 in the home of Mrs. Roy Stephenson, with Mrs. Ben Edmiston as co-hostess. Mrs. P. H. Webb, president, led the group in the Lord's Prayer, and presided over the business meeting. Mrs. Stephenson, chairman of the Ad Hoc Committee responsible for keeping the membership informed of issues pertaining to the coming election, presented a questionnaire to be mailed to our congressman. Mrs. James McLarty, Jr., program leader for the evening, gave a discussion pertaining to the work of the United Nations in organizing the youth of undeveloped countries to increase food production in their home communities. The meeting closed with the singing of the Guild Benediction, the music having been composed by a Guild member, Mrs. B. C. Hyatt. During the social hour, the hostesses served cake and coffee to thirteen members.

BRIDGE CLUB MEETS

Mrs. R. L. Broach was hostess for a Tuesday Bridge Club meeting on September 10, when the club resumed its weekly meetings after a summer of other activities. Pale pink camellias were seen in arrangements in the home as well as potted red geraniums.

Mrs. J. C. Broyles and Mrs. Bill Wray joined members of the club for bridge at two tables. High scorers were Mrs. George Robinson and Mrs. E. J. Whitman. A raspberry dessert and coffee were served for refreshments.

PEO CHAPTER MEETS

To open the club year, Chapter AE, P.E.O., gathered at the home of Mrs. Jewel Moore, Jr. on Tuesday, September 10. Since the P.E.O. Sisterhood is celebrating its centennial year of organization during the coming year, Mrs. F. M. Horton told the history of P.E.O. with a program entitled "This Is Your Life, P.E.O."

In the home yellow gladioli, yellow roses, and yellow marigolds were arranged attractively to carry out the club colors. The president, Mrs. George Frazier, had charge of the brief business meeting. During the refreshment hour a dessert plate was served to 18. Mrs. H. O. Kyler was co-hostess.

SHOWER HONORS

BRIDE-ELECT

On Tuesday, September 3 Miss Peggy Rowe was feted with a bridal shower at the Garrett Memorial Baptist Church by members of the Builders Sunday School Class. Three days later, on Friday, September 6, she became the bride of Rodney Powell in a ceremony at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Rowe.

For the Tuesday party, the honoree wore a beige checked dress and pinned a yellow and white corsage at her shoulder. She received many lovely and useful gifts from the 50 friends at the party.

The entertainment area was attractively decorated with a bride-and-groom theme. The serving table held yellow candles and yellow roses, and punch and cookies were served for refreshments.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help Us!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help Us! this newspaper.

THE THINGS THEY ASK A COLUMNIST

Dear Helen: I know you get some kooky mail, as I've read it in your column. But I bet you get even kookier questions you don't print. How about sharing some with — YOUR EVER LOVIN' READERS

Dear E. L. Readers: How about these:

Dear Helen: If you grow your fingernail to an inch long, will a cosmetic company pay you $100 for it?

A. — I called the cosmetic company and the man said "No!" He sounded pretty skeptical when I told him I was a columnist.

Dear Helen: Will group health insurance pay for an unwed pregnancy in the family?

A. — Usually not unless the pregnant one is the "head of the household" who pays the premiums, but you'd better check with your agent. (Again, the company I called didn't believe I was a columnist.)

Dear Helen: I heard you can tell which sex your unborn baby is by holding a plumb bob over your stomach. If it swings in a circle, it's a girl; back and forth, it's a boy. True?

A. — False.

Dear Helen: My ouija board is different. It asks US the questions, and some of them are hilarious, some just too personal. What should we do?

A. — Take the fifth, and I don't mean from a bottle.

Dear Helen: Do highly spiced foods make a girl more easy to persuade?

A. — Not unless she washes them down with highly spiced drinks.

Dear Helen: Will standing on your head cure hiccoughs?

A. — Surely there must be an easier way.

Dear Helen: Is it true that if you fight a lot before marriage your marriage will be peaceful?

A. — Not so's you could notice it!

Dear Helen: Do you believe in premarital interdigitation?

A. — What's wrong with holding hands?

Dear Helen: My grandmother won't let me sweep dust out the back door. She says it "sweeps your riches away." Please explain.

A. — It's an ancient superstition, probably originated by a husband who didn't like to clean up a messy back yard.

Dear Helen: Should you marry an "opposite" so you won't be bored by sameness?

A. — Sexwise, yes. Otherwise, not too "opposite."

Dear Helen: Is it true that if a married couple sleeps under pine trees they're more apt to have a big family?

A. — Nope, but it DOES sound romantic, doesn't it?

Dear Helen: If you have a childhood romance and then marry, will the marriage flop because you know each other too well?

A. — Not if you marry for love and not out of habit.

Students Map Fall Strategy

NEW YORK (AP) — About 200 students and others, led by Mark Rudd, the sparkplug behind last spring's Columbia University campus disorders, held a no-reporters-allowed meeting at the school Tuesday night to map "fall strategy."

Rudd, Columbia chapter chairman of the leftist-leaning Students for a Democratic Society, was chairman of the meeting, and told reporters no one would answer questions afterward.

Two reporters were later asked to leave an outside hallway as they waited for the meeting to end.

A spokesman for the Columbia Strike Steering Committee, which led a classroom boycott at the Ivy League school during the April-May disorders, said the meeting was to map "fall strategy" and "reformulate" the group's demands. The Columbia chapter of SDS reportedly dominates the strike committee.

Bishops Take Positions Over Order

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Bishops of the Roman Catholic Church around the world are taking varied positions ranging from firm crackdowns to toleration toward the widespread opposition to Pope Paul's encyclical barring contraception.

Generally, both in this country and abroad, the predominant tendency seemed to be to leave the door open to dissent.

In scattered cases, in Australia, Ireland, Great Britain and the United States, some priests were reported suspended from priestly functions or removed from their posts for challenging the encyclical.

A showdown over the issue appeared to be building up in this country between Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle of Washington, D.C., who has indicated he may act against 52 priests unless they repudiate their dissent.

In a letter to archdiocesan priests and aimed at all Catholics in the jurisdiction, Cardinal O'Boyle said Wednesday that dissent from the encyclical is "erroneous, scandalous and offensive to faithful Catholics."

He said acceptance of the papal ruling represents true freedom of conscience in that "we are responsible for forming a right conscience."

Mostly, however, American bishops have not moved to cut off the discussion.

In Western Europe, German and Belgian bishops have upheld the rights of individual conscience on the matter.

In England, where a group of laymen was gathering clergy and lay signatures to a petition of opposition, some bishops have called meetings with their clergy to discuss the situation.

Some theologians have said that repressive measures against dissenters could cause schism in the Church.

But a Canadian scholar, the Rev. Gregory Baum, professor of theology at St. Michael's College in the University of Toronto, predicts:

"After a year, it will be evident there are two positions in the Catholic Church, the one of the Pope, the other that of the theologians. This will demand a reinterpretation of papal authority in the Church."

Aside from several groups in various places, about 650 U.S. Catholic theologians, philosophers and canon lawyers have signed a statement disagreeing with the Pope.

A Gallup poll indicated 52 per cent of American Catholics also opposed the Pope's position, and 65 per cent said they believed it is possible to practice artificial birth control and still be a good Catholic.

In the Netherlands, only 20 per cent of Catholics agreed with the encyclical, a poll there found.

Belgium's bishops said they accepted the encyclical "with filial respect" but that a knowledgeable Catholic who honestly differs from its conclusions "has the right to follow his convictions."

Cats Hope to Start a Win Streak

By RALPH ROUNTON

Star Sports Writer

It actually seems like this is the season's opener all over again, as the Bobcats try to start some winning ways in Prescott tomorrow night.

The Curley Wolves will have the friendly crowd, and late word indicates that our fans just may have some problems finding any kind of a seat.

Last week Prescott opened their '68 campaign by tromping Stamps 21-7 before a full house. And barring injuries, they will field much the same ball club as the bunch that got Hope's number by 14-6 in Hope a year ago.

New Head Coach Charles Montgomery goes into his first season with the uneasy tab of the preseason pick to take District 7-A, but the Curley Wolves will have to put up some fight to pull it off. Nashville and Ashdown will be tough, and Arkadelphia Peake is more experienced.

On offense the Wolves basically run from variations of the Tight-T, with a roving halfback who changes formations into strong sets when he lines up on the wings. Prescott also has run from a balanced and unbalanced pro-set, even though their passing game is far from superior.

The returning starter at quarterback is senior Bill Greer, whose main folly is the sprint-out. With a pair of bad shoulders, though, Greer is only an adequate passer, though his running makes him a breakaway threat if he gets outside.

Greer, a 155-pounder, is joined in the backfield by one returnee and a pair of newcomers to first-team action. The returnee is senior halfback Mike Koger (160), who along with Greer can be tough on option plays.

Koger will play right halfback, with the left side manned by Jerry Hubbard (130), who beat the rest of the competition for his spot and Jerry will start both ways. At the fullback slot is Roscoe Franks, Franks, at 130 pounds, is certainly no power runner and will be used more as a pass receiver.

In the line, the Wolves have a pair of fairly good ends in seniors Van O'Keefe (145) and Danny Ashbrook (170). Ashbrook hurt the Bobcats last year with several receptions and quite a few tackles on defense.

Tackle is probably the most solid position on the club, after a personnel change brought Danny Jones into the line. Jones formerly a tough runner and blocker at fullback, has a bad knee which is forcing him to carry his 180-pound frame in the tackle spot. Danny is joined by senior Jim Westmoreland (170), who started last year on defense. A real hitter in the line, Westmoreland will be hard to penetrate.

Wayne Zumwalt (155) returns for his final season at guard, and should be a shoo-in for All-District honors along with Jones. Depth is a problem here, though, with light Joel Culpepper, at 133 pounds, starting at the other guard.

At center big Stuart Freeland returns, this year listed at 212 pounds. In full uniform, that's about 225, and he will be a tough assignment for Bobcat noseman Mickey Allen.

On defense the Curley Wolves have retained their basic 5-4 alignment of last year, with a five-man front and two linebackers and cornerbacks.

Little Culpepper will start at noseman, and will be flanked by linebackers Danny Jones and Jim Westmoreland. At the tackles are Freeland and Larry Burke, a big 190-pounder who is untested but just could be trouble.

Ashbrook mans one end spot, with soph Timmy Grimes (180) on the other side. The cornerbacks are Koger and Franks, both going both ways as starters. In the defensive secondary are halfbacks Jerry Hubbard and senior Mike Payne, a lanky 155-pounder.

The main drawbacks of the Curley Wolves are those normal to any smaller Class A school. The backfield lacks size and power, and QB Greer must bear the brunt of the offensive load with Koger. The line is experienced but lacks speed and playing time behind the starting group.

As far as defense goes, Prescott should be stingy. They didn't allow Stamps a single first down, but the Yellowjackets are somewhat weak this year. Nevertheless, the Wolves have had a good season, the Wolves have had a good season, the Wolves have had a good season.

Tonight the Bobkittens go up to Prescott to open their season at 7:30 p.m. Coach Gaylord Solomon's forces have been ridden by key injuries from the start, and are still a bit away from their possible peak. These boys will also need the local fans' support, as they begin the new schedule in a foreign park. It should be a good, tight game.

Yanks About Hottest Team in League

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer Fritz Peterson is throwing his support behind the New York Yankees' catch-up campaign . . . and Chicago's Tom McCraw has thumbed a ride on the bandwagon.

Peterson hurled the streaking Yankees past Chicago 7-2 Wednesday night for his fifth consecutive victory after the White Sox committed four errors—including a pair by defensive replacement McCraw—in a seven-run sixth inning collapse.

The victory extended the Yanks' winning string to six games in a sustained late season drive that has carried them from seventh place in the American League to within reach of the third spot.

Elsewhere, Willie Horton's 34th and 35th homers led first place Detroit to an 8-2 romp over California; Baltimore swept a doubleheader from Washington 6-1 and 4-1 in 10 innings; Oakland edged Boston 3-2 in 12 innings and Cleveland ripped Minnesota 1-0 in 12.

In the National League, St. Louis shaded Los Angeles 5-4; Atlanta beat San Francisco 3-1; the New York Mets squeezed by the Chicago Cubs 1-0; Cincinnati took a pair from Houston 5-1 and 11-6 and Philadelphia split with Pittsburgh, winning the first game 8-6 in 12 innings and bowing 6-4 in the second.

Peterson, who has won eight of his last 11 decisions for an 11-9 season record, held the White Sox to an unearned run until the ninth, when rookie Bill Mellow cracked his first major league homer. That was only the second earned marker off the New York southpaw in his last five starts.

Chicago's Joe Horlen was clinging to a 1-0 lead when McCraw took over for first baseman Pete Ward in the sixth . . . and fumbled Mickey Mantle's leadoff bounce to trigger the wild rally. Roy White doubled, Joe Pepitone stroked an RBI single and White also scored when right fielder Buddy Bradford bobbled the ball.

McCraw's wild throw to second on Tom Tresh's grounder and an intentional walk filled the bases before Peterson sent McCraw home with a squeeze bunt to Horlen, who threw the ball into right field, allowing Tresh to score. Horace Clarke followed with a two-run single and eventually scored the seventh run . . . on a wild pitch by Wilbur Wood.

Horton's first homer of the game touched off a five-run burst in the second inning that carried southpaw John Hiller to an easy victory.

Bill Freehan also homered and Dick McAuliffe and Don Wert drove in two runs apiece for the Tigers, whose pennant clinching magic number was reduced to eight. They lead second place Baltimore by eight lengths with 15 games remaining.

Hiller, 8-5, gave up 10 hits on the way to his 18th victory and Brooks Robinson and Boog Powell each delivered two runs as the Orioles took their opener. Dave Johnson won the nightcap with a three-run homer off reliever Dave Baldwin in the 10th.

The A's pushed over the winning run against Jim Lonborg, who went the distance for Boston, when pinch runner Allen Lewis zippered to third on the front end of a double steal and scored on Bert Campaneris' sacrifice fly.

Mike Hershberger led off the 12th with a single and gave way to Lewis, who moved to second on a sacrifice bunt before Jim Gosger was walked intentionally, setting up the double steal.

Carl Yastrzemski went 4-for-5 for the Red Sox, boosting his league leading batting average to .400.

Jack Hernandez 12th inning error and singles by Max Alvis and pinch hitter Lou Johnson broke up a scoreless duel at Minnesota. Sam McDowell and relievers Vicente Romo and Horacio Pina combined to blank the Twins on six hits.

Importance of Kicking Game Cited

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Kansas City Chiefs Coach Hank Stram has said that "anywhere from four to six games a season can be decided on the kicking phase."

Press' offensive player of the week. Counting his two extra-point kicks, he provided Kansas City with 14 points.

As it turned out, every one of the field goals—from 37, 33, 26, and 32 yards—was crucial.

When Houston quarterback Pete Bethard steered the Oilers to the Chiefs' nine-yard line with 26 seconds to go, he was forced by the five-point deficit to go for the touchdown.

His pass into the end zone was broken up.

The selection of Stenerud after the first weekend of American Football League action was made over San Diego's Dick Post, who picked up 140 yards in 16 carries in the victory over Cincinnati; Charger quarterback John Hadl, with 20 of 37 passes for 325 yards, and Boston rookie R.C. Gamble, who went 90 yards on 16 carries in the Patriots' decision over Buffalo.

Gibson Gets Cardinals Going Again

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer The St. Louis countdown is at four and moving while Juan Marichal's count-up is at five and stalled. It's a cinch the Cards will reach their goal but doubtful that Marichal will make it to his.

The Cardinals reduced their magic number for clinching the National League pennant to four Wednesday night by nipping Los Angeles 5-4 for Bob Gibson's 21st victory of the year.

San Francisco, meanwhile, dropped a 3-1 decision at Atlanta with Marichal, still hoping for a 30-victory season, taking the loss. It left the Giant ace at 25-8 and with only 15 games remaining, his chances for 30 are about as good as San Francisco's chances of catching St. Louis.

In other National League action Wednesday, New York blanked Chicago 1-0, Cincinnati swept a two-night doubleheader from Houston, 5-1 and 11-6 and Philadelphia split a twi-nighter with Pittsburgh, winning the opener 8-6 in 12 innings and dropping the nightcap, 6-4.

In the American League, Baltimore swept a doubleheader from Washington 6-1 and 4-1, Cleveland shaded Minnesota 1-0 in 12 innings, New York whacked Chicago 7-2, Detroit smacked California 8-2 and Oakland outlasted Boston 3-2 in 12 innings.

Gibson's victory over the Dodgers wasn't his sharpest performance of the year but it opened the Cardinal lead to 11½ games and made the pennant clinching party a weekend likelihood.

LA strafed the St. Louis ace for 11 hits including a leadoff homer by Willie Crawford. But the Cards bounced right back, staking Gibson to a 5-1 lead before the Dodgers made a late run at him.

Lou Brock's two-run double broke a 1-1 tie in the second and doubles by Orlando Cepeda and Tim McCarver helped build two more runs in the third.

Meanwhile, in Atlanta, where Marichal hasn't won in two years, the Braves just about ended any hopes the Dominican Danny might have entertained of 30 victories.

Bank Aaron tagged his 27th home run—a two-run shot in the third inning—and Pat Jarvis limited the Giants to four hits.

The homer was the 508th of Aaron's career and his first off Marichal by his count in three years.

Jim McAndrew allowed just two hits but needed ninth inning help from Billy Short and Cal Koonce to nail down the Mets' victory over Chicago.

Short retired Billy Williams and Koonce got Ernie Banks leaving two Cubs stranded. New York's only run came on fourth inning doubles by J.C. Martin and Jerry Grote.

Lee May's bases-loaded double drove in three runs and Gary Nolan won his ninth game as Cincinnati beat Houston in the first game of their twi-nighter.

The Reds completed the sweep with a six-run eighth inning snapping a 5-5 tie in the nightcap. Johnny Bench and Vada Pinson socked key doubles in the rally.

Pete Rose had four hits in the doubleheader, raising his total for the season to 190. He is batting .343.

Bill White's RBI single and a two-run double by pinch hitter Gary Sutherland in the 12th inning gave the Phillies their first game victory over Pittsburgh.

The Pirates salvaged the split as Steve Blass won his 15th game with relief help from Luke Walker.

Broyles Not Pleased With His Porkers

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Coach Frank Broyles said Wednesday that his Arkansas Razorbacks are "going to have to bear down and be more consistent before we can be a football team."

The Razorbacks worked out for two hours Wednesday afternoon and Broyles said he was "not very pleased with the workout."

"The defense is making too many mistakes," he said, "Something breaks down every play."

Broyles said the team is not progressing as fast as he wants it to.

He said he is still planning a game-type scrimmage either today or Friday.

Pee Wee Loop Football to Be Formed

There will be a meeting at Hope High School, in conjunction with the regular Booster's Club Meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 17, at regular Booster's meeting time, for the purpose of organizing this year's Pee Wee and Grade School Football Leagues.

The Pee Wee League will consist of boys in the 2nd, 3rd, and 4th grades with the Grade School League being composed of boys in the 5th and 6th grades. Pee Wee League eligibility requirements are that a player must not have reached his 10th birthday until after Sept. 1st of this school year.

Weight limits are 100 lbs. for 2nd graders, 95 lbs. for 3rd graders and 80 lbs. for 4th graders. A Grade School player must not have reached his 13th birthday until after Sept. 1st, of this school year.

Both Leagues will play tackle football and all players must have helmets and shoulder pads that are approved by the League Officials. Players may not wear hard rubber (spiked) or nylon cleats in either league. Cleats such as those on Little League Baseball shoes are permissible.

Both leagues will play 6 minute quarters and all games will be played at Legion Field. Grade School teams will practice at Legion Field and Pee Wee teams will practice at K-Park.

Each elementary school will be visited to enroll candidates for both leagues and parents are urged to inform their boys as to whether or not they will be permitted to play so that an accurate poll of candidates can be taken. The schools will be visited on Mon. and Tue. of next week or after Sept. 15th.

Fathers of boys in the grades above that are interested in helping with this program should contact Charles Gough, Joe Chism or Wesley Huddleston before next Tuesday night. Two coaches are needed for each grade school team and three coaches for each Pee Wee team.

Pee Wee League sponsors are Herndon Funeral Home (Gold), Citizens Bank (Green), James Gaines Motor Co. (White), and the Trading Post (Blue). Grade School sponsors are Young Chevrolet, (Gold), James Motor Co. (Blue), Anderson-Frazier Ins. (Red) and Hope Auto Co. (White).

Lefty Diresell has a goatee these days and says it may help his recruiting.

"You know how these modern athletes are. If I could land some good players I might wear it all season," Diresell said.

The balding coach wants it made clear that he isn't a hippie, however.

"I still take a bath and shave around the goatee," he said.

Palmer and Trevino Are Favored

By DAVE O'HARA

Associated Press Sports Writer SUTTON, Mass. (AP)—Arnold Palmer and Lee Trevino were poised and ready to follow their favorites today. Arnold Palmer and Lee Trevino led a field of 144 into the opening round of the $150,000 Kemper Open Golf Tournament.

Palmer, who reached the age of 39 Tuesday, ruled a slight favorite, but the $30,000 top prize in the 72-hole tourney at Pleasant Valley Country Club appeared up for grabs in the absence of such stars as Jack Nicklaus, Bill Casper and Gary Player.

Although he has been disappointed in his play in recent weeks, Palmer has solid knowledge of the sprawling 7,230-yard course, one of the longest on the PGA circuit. He finished second to the late Tony Lema in the Carling World here three years ago.

The course will play even longer because of recent rain. However, spacious greens may give the long-hitting pros the trouble. The immense putting surfaces average more than 10,000 square feet, and putts of more than 100 feet are not unusual.

Palmer had an early afternoon starting time. Trevino, the happy-go-lucky U.S. Open champion, and such standouts as Dave Stockton and Tom Weiskopf were set to tee off early. Stockton won the Milwaukee and Cleveland opens this summer, while Weiskopf took the Bulck Open.

Other standouts ready to test the par 72 layout included Doug Sanders, Art Wall, Gay Brewer, Ken Still, Chi Chi Rodriguez, Kel Nagle, Bobby Nichols, Tommy Aaron, Bruce Crampton, Mason Rudolph, Al Geiberger, Dow Finsterwald, Marty Fleckman and other members of the pro circuit.

Lefty Diresell has a goatee these days and says it may help his recruiting.

Carlos, Smith Meet in a Showdown

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. (AP) — John Carlos, who runs so fast he can't help himself, and Tommie Smith, who will have to change his drinking habits, meet today in the finals of the 200-meter dash at the U.S. Olympic track and field trials.

The way Carlos and Smith tore up the track Wednesday—before yielding to Geoff Vanderstock and a world record in the 400-meter hurdles—it doesn't seem possible that either can lose.

Carlos ran 20.1 seconds, one-tenth off Smith's world record, not once, but twice, in races that were next to meaningless and hardly required such speed. And Smith ran 20.0, though he was helped by a heavy wind.

Today come the semifinals and final and the latter should be quite a race, they both agree. "He's ready," says Smith of Carlos. "That cat's ready."

"I'll tell you one thing," says Carlos of Carlos, "that Tommie Smith had better have all his stuff together or he's going to get beat."

So why did Carlos let loose with everything he had, winning both his races, by many yards? "Normally," said John, "I would say I'm going to run easy, I won't go hard. But once the gun goes off it doesn't matter. I run as hard as I can."

Smith said he felt "kind of woozy" during the day from a stomach ache.

"I must have drunk some water up here," said Tommie. "The doctors said, 'Don't drink the water, don't drink the water, but I went right ahead and drank it.'"

"I told you man," interjected Carlos, "drink Scotch."

While the U.S. Olympic coaches are watching Smith and Carlos duel they will still be fondly remembering the epic 400-meter hurdles race, in which Vanderstock, who ran 48.8 broke Rex Cawley's record that had stood for four years by all of three-tenths of a second.

"Wasn't that something to behold," said head Coach Payton Jordan. And he wasn't talking only of Vanderstock, a recent graduate of the University of California.

The second-place finisher in the race, Boyd Gittins of Washington State, matched Cawley's 49.1 recognized mark and Ron Whitney, who finished third, was right behind him at 49.2.

Previously, the fastest race that had been run this year was Whitney's 49.5 and the Olympic record is 49.3 set eight years ago in Rome by Glenn Davis.

The major surprise of Wednesday's activity came when Jim Ryun utterly came apart in the finals of the 800-meter run. Ryun is the world record holder not only in the mile and 1,500 meters, but also at half a mile.

Going into the final stretch, the University of Kansas star seemed to be starting his famous finishing kick, but when the runners came out from behind the woods that hide part of the track from view, Ryun had quite obviously given up.

He came in dead last in the horrendous time of 2:02.6. Tom Farrell was a pleased and surprised winner in 1:46.5.

Ryun said his lack of speed work due to his recent bout with mononucleosis had been responsible for his performance and, no, he didn't think it would affect him in the 1,500.

Wade Bell finished second to Farrell in 1:47.1, and Ron Kutschinski of the University of Michigan won third place with a time of 1:47.8.

At Custer the big discuss-thrower from West Islip, N.Y., earned a crack at a fourth gold medal in the Olympics medal by

Olympic Games Only Month Away

By CHARLES GREEN
MEXICO CITY (AP)—Exactly a month from today Mexico's best woman athlete will trot into Olympic Stadium with torch in hand for the most important moment of her life and the opening of the 1968 Olympic Games.

Mexico has been preparing for Oct. 12, 1968, for six years. It marks the 45th anniversary of the day Christopher Columbus landed in the New World and the first time the Olympic torch will be lighted in Latin America.

It is Mexico's chance to prove to the world that a developing country can be host to the world's biggest sporting event without wrecking its national budget.

President Gustavo Diaz Viala is to officially inaugurate Olympic construction Friday. Members of the Mexican Olympic team took symbolic possession of their quarters in the Liberator Miguel Hidalgo Olympic Village today because Diaz Ordaz feels the Mexicans, as host to the youth of the world in the village, should be at home when the first of the visitors arrive at week's end.

Most of the Olympic construction is just about finished on the village which will house the majority of the record 7,226 athletes from 119 countries. There now appears no doubt that everything will be ready for the opening ceremony the second Saturday in October.

Competition in the 19 official sports starts in Mexico City, Guadalajara, Puebla and Leon Oct. 13 and goes on almost day and night until the last horse goes over the hurdles Oct. 27 in the team jumping event which always precedes Olympic closing ceremonies.

About 800,000 tickets have already been sold and middle class hotel facilities have long been gone, but there are a few rooms left in private homes.

The road from Baden-Baden, Germany, where in 1962 Mexico was chosen as the site for the Games of the 19th Olympiad has been long and clogged with controversy.

Controversy started even before the International Olympic Committee approved Mexico City as site of the Games. Controversy will continue right up to opening day and probably even after the Games are over.

Smackover Loan Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., announced Wednesday approval of a $192,000 loan by the Farmers Home Administration to develop a recreational area near Smackover, Ark.

The loan was to Pine Hills Golf and Tennis Club, a non-profit organization of 300 rural families. Members of the club will pay $25,000 of the cost of the project.

The loan will finance the purchase of 126 acres and construction of a nine-hole golf course, a club house, swimming pool, tennis court, picnic area and other outdoor recreational facilities.

Finishing third in the final trials with a toss of 204.3,

Police to Try Helicopter

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore police department's experimental use of a helicopter to try to reduce crime gets off the ground today.

The city's Board of Estimates approved Wednesday a 100-hour use of a helicopter to cost the city $6,000. Hyman A. Pressman, city comptroller, suggested the program after saying it proved successful in Lakewood, Calif.

Pressman said police helicopters could "nip crimes in the bud of child molesting, narcotics, smuggling, robberies, burglaries, mob attacks on policemen and car thefts."

PGA Trying to Pacify Golf Pros

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Professional Golfers Association continued its attempts today to settle the feud with rebelling touring pros who object to the exclusive control the PGA has exercised over the big money tournaments.

The Associated Press has learned that the PGA's executive committee, meeting today, would probably accept a plan outlined by the sponsors of the tournaments to have a 12-man board run the tour.

The board, consisting of three tournament players, three sponsors, three PGA officials and three older, retired players, would operate under the PGA's authority, but the association would exercise no control over its decisions.

Patterson Plans Tricks for Ellis

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Floyd Patterson, former world heavyweight boxing champion, says you can so teach an old dog new tricks.

"I've got a few tricks up my sleeve for Jimmy Ellis," Patterson said Wednesday upon arriving in Stockholm for Saturday's title fight with World Boxing Association champion Ellis.

The bout, scheduled for 2:15 p.m., EDT, will be beamed to the United States via satellite.

Not only is the 33-year-old Patterson an old dog by boxing standards, he's also the underdog at odds of 2-1.

Patterson won the heavyweight title in November 1956. He lost it to Ingemar Johansson in June 1959 and regained the crown—only man to do so—by defeating Johansson in June 1960.

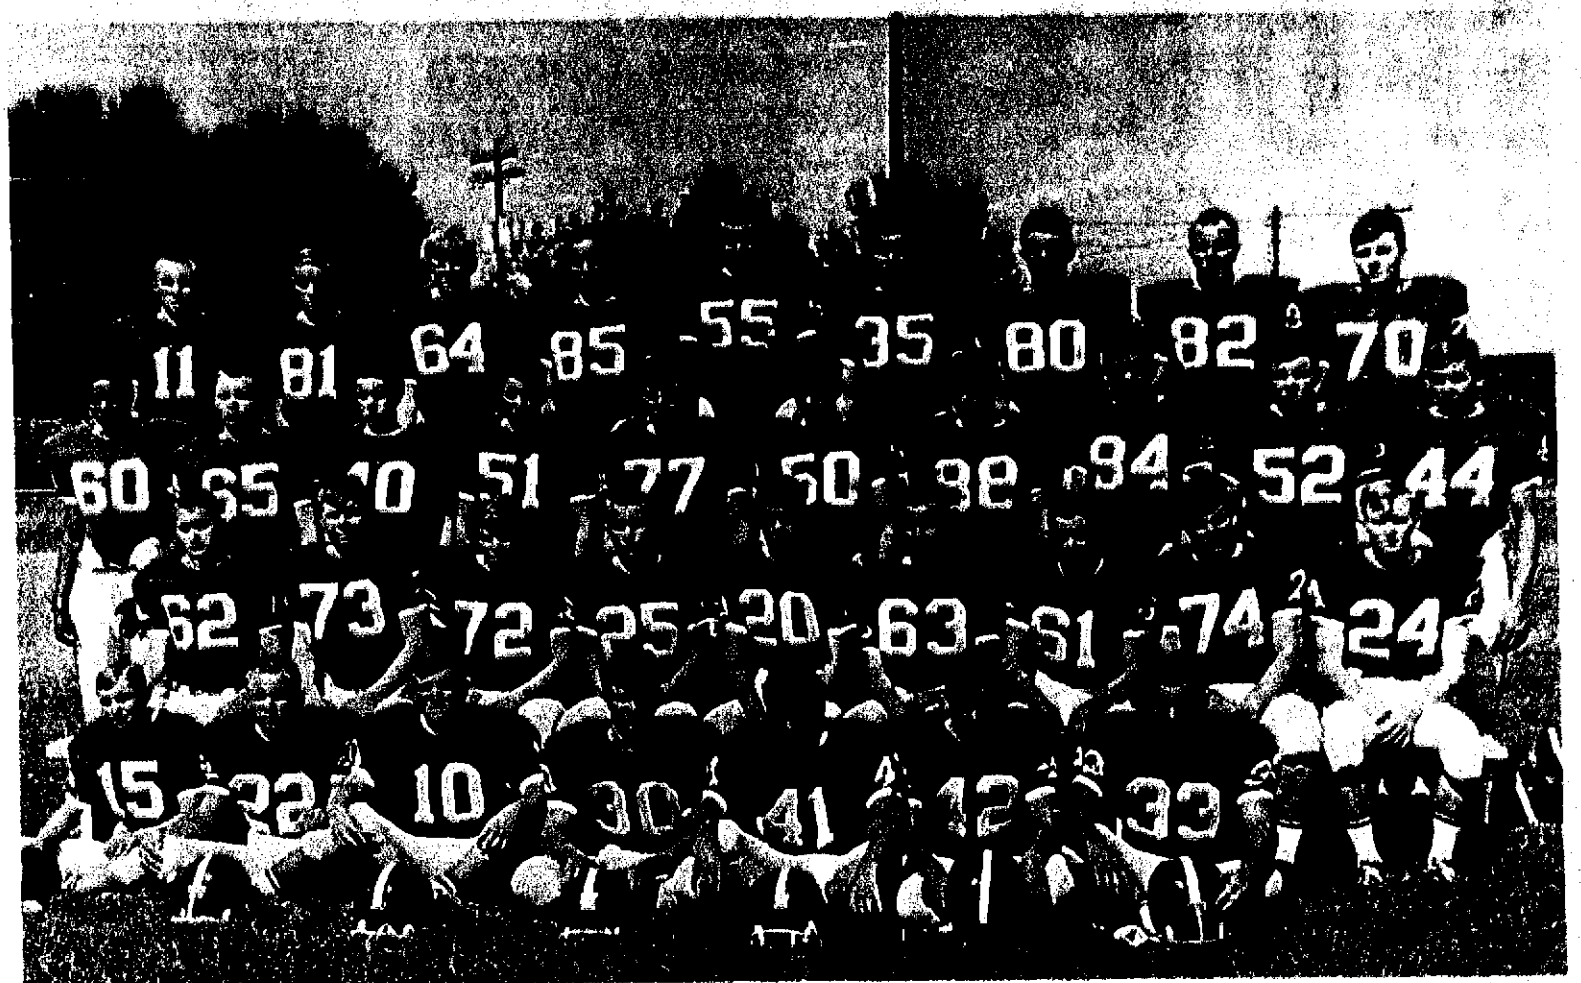

Patterson held the title until being knocked out in one round by Sonny Liston in September 1962 and again the following July.

The Prescott High School Curley Wolves

BOTTOM ROW: Steve Wren, QB, 10; Phillip Palmer, HB, 12; Sandy Gausche, QB, 11; Steve Haltom, HB, 10; George DeWoody, E, 10; Jimmy Williams, HB, 10; Mike Koger, HB, 12.

SECOND ROW: Joel Culpepper, G, 12; Jim Westmoreland, T, 12; Wayne Zumwalt, G, 12; Roscoe Franks, FB, 12; Glen Childers, HB, 11; Duncan Culpepper, G, 10; Dale

Harris, G, 12; Larry Burke, T, 10; Jerry Hubbard, HB, 12.

THIRD ROW: Leroy Jackson, E, 12; Mike Burke, T, 11; Randy Koger, HB, 10; Mike Faulkner, T, 10; George Stockton, T, 10; Keith Cummins, E, 10; Jackie McKinnon, E, 12; Lonnie Buie, E, 11; Tommy Beebe C, 11; Bill Woodell, E, 11.

TOP ROW: Bill Greer, QB, 12; Jerry Stinson, E, 11; Danny Jarvis, T, 10; Van O'Keefe, E, 12; Steuart Freeland, C, 11; Timmy Grimes, FB, 10; Mike Payne, E, 11; Danny Ashbrook, E, 12; Danny Jones, T, 12.

In his first start on grass, the 55-year-old Nerud discussed a possible head-to-head meeting of the two great handicap horses.

Dr. Fager proved his trainer's contention that a great horse can win on any footing by driving to a neck victory over the 30-1 shot, Advocate, in 13-16 miles United Nations. Fort Marcy, the 1967 grass champion, was third in a field of nine. Damascus, who has divided two races this year and four over-all with Dr. Fager, was invited to the U.N., but his handlers said, "No thank you." Dr. Fager's U.N. victory was his 17th in 21 starts and boosted his earnings to $965,952. He has won six of seven this year, including the Washington Park Handicap at Arlington Park in which he set a world record of 1:32 1-5 for the mile.

The rabbit reference by Nerud was to Damascus' stablemate, Hedevar, who is eligible for the 1 1/4-mile Woodward Stakes. Trainer Frank Whiteley twice has used the speedy front-running Hedevar to run Dr. Fager into the ground, so the stretch-running Damascus could come from off the pace to win.

"I am taking him (Dr. Fager) back to Belmont," said Nerud, "and if he's sound I would consider running him in the Woodward. I would be reluctant to go against Damascus if he (Whiteley) is using a whipsaw (Hedevar) on me."

Dr. Fager had no trouble with the grass, winning the U.N. in 1:55 1-5. The 4-5 favorite of the crowd of 16,557, he returned $3.60, $3.20 and $2.60.

Wallace Says Nixon Made an Empty Promise

By REX THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — George C. Wallace, the third-party presidential candidate, says Richard M. Nixon made an empty promise when he told Southerners he would not try to jam anything down their throats.

Wallace, challenging an appeal to conservative voters by Nixon, the Republican presidential nominee, said, "the national Republicans, and the national Democrats, have already jammed everything down our throats there is to jam."

"There isn't anything left," he told a cheering crowd, "but there's going to be a good throat clearing on election day, Nov. 5."

Wallace, speaking Wednesday night at an outdoor rally and a $25 a plate fund-raising dinner which netted about $14,000, was referring to Nixon's promise at the Republican National Convention that he would not try to jam anything down the throats of the South or any other section of the nation.

"When the national Republicans come down here and ask you to support them, you ask them if they're going to give your schools back to you."

"And even if they say they're going to, they were the ones that took them away from you and they shouldn't be rewarded for giving them back," Wallace said.

At Wallace's side was former Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus, who earlier denied that he would formally endorse the third-party candidate. Also on the platform was former Gov. Jimmie Davis, who had greeted the candidate at the American Legion's national convention earlier Wednesday at New Orleans.

Wallace's attack on Nixon was the sharpest of his campaign.

He said the Republican nominee was vice president when the Supreme Court "took control of our schools away from us" with its 1954 decision outlawing segregation.

Nixon was still vice president, Wallace said, when, as he expressed it, the administration of former President Eisenhower "put the bayonet in the backs of the people of Arkansas."

That was a reference to the use of federal troops to guard Negro pupils enrolled for the first time in 1956 at Little Rock Central High School in 1956.

Wallace was equally critical of the Democratic leadership. He charged that both parties have brought about a climate of violence and lawlessness by "kowtowing to these anarchists" who, he said, seek to tear the nation apart with rioting and looting.

Because of what he called the breakdown of law and order, Wallace said he has abandoned any thought of having a national convention of his American Independent party. "It takes the armed forces of the country to make it possible to hold one in safety," he said.

In his speech to the Legionnaires at New Orleans, the Alabamian said the United States has "no recourse except to rely on 'its military strength, with the use of conventional weapons' to end the war in Vietnam if the Paris peace talks fail."

Wallace goes today to Springfield, Mo.; Springfield, Ill.; and then to Milwaukee, Wis., for a dinner and rally in the state where he received more than 30 per cent of the vote in the Democratic presidential primary of 1964.

Candidates Cause Concern Among Backers

By JACK BELL
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The early campaign techniques of the two major presidential candidates are causing some discontent among members of their own parties.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has been criticized by some Democrats for too often shooting from the hip on crucial matters. On the Republican side, Richard M. Nixon is said to be too complacent about winning the November election.

This assessment of the early tactics of the general election drive surfaced from a cross-section check of interested politicians not intimately connected with the campaigns of the two candidates.

Campaign officials generally are loathe to publicly discuss the tactics or prospects of their candidates, except in confident and laudatory terms.

But those politicians whose only stake in the campaign is a desire to see their own party win more often will give a candid assessment of what's happening.

For example, some Democrats not directly involved in the presidential campaign say Humphrey has been making too many statements, particularly on Vietnam, on which he has had to backtrack.

These same observers say the Democrats' No. 2 man, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, has been making a better impression on the voters than Humphrey.

On the Republican side there is comment that Nixon is being too vague about the issues, that he is trying to coast into the presidency in the manner that helped defeat the GOP's Thomas E. Dewey in 1948.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, one of those Republicans willing to speak out on the subject, said he thinks there is more than a grain of overconfidence on the part of some of Nixon's advisers.

"Dick himself isn't overconfident," Morton said. "But I think some of the men around him are just a little too sure he is going to win the election and they are trying to keep him under wraps."

Morton, a former Republican national chairman, is retiring from the Senate this year.

W. E. "DUB" BROWN

Song leader for Spiritual Enrichment Week at First United Methodist Church in Hope will be W. E. "Dub" Brown of Midland, Texas.

Mr. Brown has been a frequent guest of the church and the Century Bible Class and is a brother of E. R. Brown of Hope.

The revival starts Sunday evening, September 15, at 7 p.m., and continues thru Wednesday, Sept. 18. Morning services will be held at 7 a.m., and evening services at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited.

Seeks a Change of Venue

WARREN, Ark. (AP)—Prosecutor Frank Wynne of Fordyce has filed for a change in venue in the retrial of James Ray Ederington, 17, who was convicted of second-degree murder.

Ederington was convicted July 22, 1967, in the gunshot slaying of J.H. Maroney, his neighbor at Lanark (Brantley County). The state Supreme Court reversed the decision. No new trial date has been set.

Kentucky, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Virginia are commonwealths.

Foe Thinks Nixon Needs Touching Up

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) —

Hu-bert H. Humphrey, turning his attention more and more to his Republican opponent for the presidency, says Richard M. Nixon "needs to be touched up a bit."

"He doesn't look good with angelic wings," the vice president told reporters Wednesday night as he arrived home from a three-day cross-country campaign swing in which he faced slim crowds, heckling and snubs by top Democrats.

Humphrey, who goes today to Delaware and New Jersey, pronounced the trip a success, saying "it was primarily a way to get out around the country to see a lot of groups we wanted to contact."

The last of the three days took Humphrey from Houston to New Orleans to Flint, Mich., and was marked by increasingly strong attacks on Nixon. He even suggested that antiwar demonstrators, who tried to drown out his speech in a Flint shopping center with chants of "No More War," should turn their attention to Nixon and third-party candidate George C. Wallace.

He hit congressional Republicans hard, accusing them of blocking various legislative advances.

The Nixon-Agnew-Strom Thurmond Republicans in Congress wouldn't have given their elderly Americans medicare, and you know it," he said.

Humphrey's voice sounded hoarse as he shouted to be heard above the chants of both critics and supporters.

At every stop, Humphrey challenged Nixon to take a stand on the nuclear nonproliferation treaty and the nomination of Abe Fortas as chief justice.

"This country doesn't need a wiggler and a wobbler," he said of the GOP nominee in a Houston television interview. "It needs a leader."

Humphrey aides said the vice president feels he has good issues in the treaty and the Fortas nomination and hopes to smoke Nixon out on them.

They also said, in interviews on the campaign plane, the first week's trip has helped bridge major gaps in the party. Much of this, they said, has resulted from a series of sharp exchanges between students and Humphrey in the question-and-answer format he has employed at virtually every stop.

But these sessions also have produced controversies over statements on possible Vietnam troop withdrawals and the feasibility of an unconditional bombing halt of North Vietnam.

Aides said these were mainly due to overscheduling, a mistake they will try to avoid in the future.

"With a busy schedule," one intimate said, "he gets tired and these things happen."

The aides also said they were unconcerned about the absence of unenthusiastic crowds. "We don't expect the real momentum of this campaign to come until mid-October," one top aide said.

Among those not showing up to greet the vice president where some notable figures in the Democratic party. Neither Texas Gov. John B. Connally nor Sen. Ralph Yarborough, who represent opposite ends of the party in the Lone Star state, were on hand for Humphrey's appearance.

Louisiana Gov. John J. McKeithen already has said he will not support Humphrey's bid.

Britt to Open His Campaign

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Republican Lt. Gov. Maurice Britt will open his campaign for reelection at 5 p.m. Saturday in Carlisle.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller will introduce Britt.

F. GLADWIN CONNELL

Spiritual Enrichment week will be held at the First United Methodist Church in Hope with the Rev. F. Gladwin Connell as the guest minister. The revival starts Sunday, Sept. 15, at the evening service which is at 7 p.m. Morning services will be held at 7 a.m., Monday thru Wednesday and evening services at 7:30 p.m., Monday thru Wednesday, Sept. 16-18.

A native of Prescott with degrees from Hendrix College and Southern Methodist University, Mr. Connell is presently the Associate Executive Secretary of the Interboard Council of the Little Rock Conference of the United Methodist Church. He is serving his fourth year in the Methodist Headquarters building.

Prior to this appointment, Rev. Connell served as associate pastor at First United Methodist Church in Hope and as pastor of the Bauxite Methodist Church.

A certified minister of Christian Education, Mr. Connell has written several articles for the Church School, Roundtable and other publications. He was recently elected as chairman of the South Central Jurisdictional Directors for Youth Ministry for the new quadrennium.

Top-Flight Clubs to See Early Action; Hoople Likes Nebraska and Georgia

By MAJOR AMOS B. HOOPLE
Peerless Prognosticator

Egad, friends, here we are on the threshold of another challenging pigskin season for the Hoople Football Forecast.

The college clubs this year are bigger, faster and smarter than ever, and while most of the incoming freshmen are still trying to find their way from the dining halls to the dorms, several of the top-flight elevens are preparing to meet head-on!

The kickoff weekend matches such well-regarded teams as Wyoming's Cowboys (10-0-0 in 1967) and always rugged Nebraska, high-scoring Houston and optimistic Tulane, and Georgia's determined Bulldogs and the Tennessee Vols, the defending Southeastern Conference champs.

The opening contest in Atlantic Coast Conference competition pits player-rich Wake Forest (32-lettermen) against highly-regarded North Carolina State. In a traditional intrastate battle, those mighty mites of Ohio football—Miami and Xavier—clash at Cincinnati.

Never in the long and illustrious history of the Hoople Forecast—hak-kaff—do I recall a more formidable opening day schedule!

But difficult or no, your favorite correspondent, in consultation with our new assistant, Chet Thinkley, "the human computer," has prepared a perfect card for you—har-rumph!

The Hoople System foresees the day's leading contest providing the season's first upset—kaff-kaff—as the Georgia lads lower the colors of the Tennessee Volunteers. The Bulldogs will prevail 22-19!

At Lincoln, Nebraska, the

offense-minded Cornhuskers will edge Wyoming, 28-27, in a thrilling aerial duel!

In the other engagements mentioned above, watch for Houston to top Tulane, 21-16; Wake Forest to squeeze past N. C. State, 30-28; and Xavier and Miami to battle to a 10-10 stalemate—um-kumph!

The latter contest, incidentally, caused Hannibal Wottaburp, the pride of Missouri and long-time member of the Hoople forecasting team, to remark, "You can't show me an iota of difference between those two fine teams!"

Fall Vacationland

One of the ironies of family vacations is that many northern areas have their best weather, and colors, too, after the "season" is over. A picturesque example is Canada's Lake Nipissing in northern Ontario, where the climate during September and October is ideal. The lake has pine-lined, sandy beaches and rocky bays full of islands. The superb scenery, plus excellent fishing, makes the area a boat-cruising adventureland. There are plenty of launching ramps, fuel stops and lodging and eating facilities; shopping areas with imported fineries are close by. These photos show the secluded serenity of a get-away-from-it-all vacation in Canada.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Roman Slimming Method Not Do-It-Yourself Item

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

A reader who read about the Roman Slimming Method in a popular magazine wants to know whether it is effective and whether it is used in this country. It works, but it is not a simple do-it-yourself matter. It has met with enthusiasm and censure by various doctors here.

The method was first described by A. T. W. Simeons, a British doctor practicing in Rome. He first screens his patients to make sure they don't have an acute infection, coronary disease or other complicating condition. He then starts a patient on a series of 40 injections of human chorionic gonadotropin. After the third injection, the patient goes on a very restricted diet—500 calories a day, which includes 200 grams of meat, fish or fowl. Fats are kept to a minimum.

Although it is doubtful that fats are absorbed into the body through the skin, Dr. Simeons does not permit any greasy cosmetics or other contact with fats. He recognizes that 200 grams of protein is inadequate but believes that the injections make up for this lack. When the injections are stopped, an increase in the diet is allowed.

The diet is an important part of the treatment but the injections accomplish certain things no other slimming method accomplishes. They reduce hunger and give the patient a feeling of well-being while he is on the restricted diet. They allow the fat to come off in those areas where the patient is most anxious to lose it and they give the patient a more youthful appearance.

A third element of the method is the personal interest Dr. Simeons takes in his patients. He says that handing the patient a diet sheet and letting a nurse give the injections will not work. Each patient on arising in the morning must empty his bladder, then weigh himself without his clothes. Any day he shows a two-pound gain he must skip one meal and any time he goes four days without losing he must on the next day eat six or less apples and no other food. When a patient is not losing satisfactorily, Dr. Simeons reviews his diet and seeks possible reasons for the failure.

Dr. Simeons' rules are rigid and he believes that those who can't repeat his results have not followed his method to the letter. Several doctors in this country who have done so have been pleased with the results.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Aerial bombing was probably first tried in warfare by the Austrians during the siege of Venice in 1849. The World Almanac says. The Austrians launched bomb-laden balloons with fuses fixed to explode over the city. As nature's neutrality would have it, most of the balloons were blown off-course and some even floated back to explode over the Austrians.

Permanency Was Cherished in Olden Days

Another quote from the Great Northern Railway magazine Goat:
"It is reported there is a new wig available to be worn while shopping in supermarkets. It has curlers in it."

Your editor is having a new roof put on his house. A top-grade composition shingle roof is guaranteed for 15 years, and mine had been in place for 15½. Now the individual shingles are beginning to curl — so J. O. Taylor and his crew moved in today for a new roof job.

Perhaps you think a 15-year-roof is a pretty good deal — but back in Europe's Middle Ages men built roofs that outlasted Time itself. I saw such a roof built in our own country when I was a boy.

What I refer to is a genuine slate roof. My father built a house in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., in 1912, and it had a natural slate roof. The shingles were fantastic. The butt end was half an inch thick and it required two small boys to lift one.

Equally fantastic to exploring boys was the size of the roof timbers required to support a mountain of slate. The interior of the attic looked like a timbered tunnel in a coal mine.

Such a roof would last forever — but in these inflation days so would the debt that would be required to build it.

Today I am curious: Are natural slate roofs still available? If so, how does their cost compare with top-grade composition shingles? I called on Jack Lowe, builders' supply expert, and got some answers.

Yes, you can still buy natural slate shingles. But such a roof would cost you eight times the price of composition for just the shingles alone, plus three times the installation labor, plus an extra $100 for retimbering the attic. One of the prohibitive costs of slate shingles is the freight rate from New England to the Southwest.

Lowe told me the building supply people recognize the permanency of slate, therefore have developed in recent years an asbestos-cement "slate" shingle which is supposed to last the life of a house — at a considerably smaller cost than genuine slate. In between the slate and ordinary composition shingle is the "shake" shingle roof with a life expectancy of 25 to 30 years. But this also is expensive. Not only do the shingles cost more but the wooden "shakes" have to have air to "breathe." Therefore when installing a "shake" roof you have to tear out the solid wooden deck above the rafters — meaning an extra $150 for labor.

But I wasn't building a new house — merely reroofing one built in 1938-39 — so I waived permanency and stayed with the 15-year plan.

Thinks Fortas to Object to More Questions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., predicted today that Abe Fortas will not agree to further questioning by the Senate Judiciary Committee on his nomination to be chief justice.

Griffin said the tip-off, in his opinion, was a letter reportedly being circulated by supporters of the nomination saying it would be a disservice to the judiciary for Fortas to appear before the committee again. The committee has invited him back.

It was learned that the committee plans to start off its reopened hearings Friday with testimony by Los Angeles police about the seizure of strip-tease films involved in Supreme Court decisions.

Wallace Is Lauded by 5,000

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — George C. Wallace was lauded by former Gov. Orval E. Faubus and applauded by 5,000 supporters as the third party presidential candidate campaigned in Arkansas Wednesday night.

From his time of arrival at the Little Rock airport to the conclusion of his rally at the state Livestock Exposition grandstand, Wallace was greeted by those friendly to his campaign.

There were no protesters apparent at any of the functions he attended.

Faubus introduced Wallace at a $25-a-plate fund-raising dinner at the Hotel Marion and later at the rally, using glowing terms both times.

He presented Wallace as "a great American, a serious and formidable candidate for president."

One of the surprising elements of the event to Arkansas political observers was the resounding applause that greeted Faubus when he was introduced to the crowd—a spontaneous standing ovation.

Faubus, who sat next to one of his political foes, Jim Johnson, was interrupted by applause at the start of his presentation when he mentioned Johnson and his wife Virginia.

Congressional Battle on Gun Control Law Back on Senate Floor

By JOHN CHADWICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The congressional fight on gun controls is resuming with the Senate facing a floor battle over efforts to require the registration of all guns and the licensing of their owners.

The Senate, opening debate on the matter today, has before it a measure that would ban the interstate mail order sale of rifles and shotguns.

The bill also would prohibit over-the-counter sale of such weapons in one state to residents of another state, unless their borders adjoined.

The bill, similar to one already passed in the House, however, does not contain proposals originally urged by President Johnson to require that all firearms be registered and all gun owners be licensed.

These controversial proposals were rejected by the House and the Senate Judiciary Committee when it considered the bill before Congress adjourned for the political conventions.

A floor fight for registration and licensing provisions was promised by Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., and others. Under a Tydings proposal, the states would be given a chance to handle registration and licensing before the federal government could take over.

Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, in a letter delivered to each senator in advance of the debate, appealed for support of the administration's proposal.

"Those who quibble about the inconveniences of registration and licensing, knowing lives are at stake, cannot be much concerned about life or crime either," Clark's letter said.

The bill now before the Senate, with Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., as its chief sponsor, provides for controls on the sale of rifles and shotguns similar to those imposed on handguns in the omnibus crime control legislation passed by Congress earlier in the year.

When the anticrime bill was up for debate, the Senate defeated 53 to 29 an amendment proposed by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., that would have banned the mail order sale of rifles and shotguns.

Supporters of the provision to prohibit the mail order sale of the long guns now say public pressure arising from the Kennedy assassination has provided leverage to push through more stringent controls.

Nevada Co. Fair Opens September 17

Nevada County's 32 Annual Fair will open Tuesday, September 17.

The Fair will open at 9:30 a.m. with the judging of the Flower Show, sponsored each year by the Prescott Council of Garden Clubs.

The big parade will be at 11:00 a.m. Tuesday. This year's parade should be bigger and better than ever with twelve beautifully decorated floats carrying out the theme "Nevada County on Parade", beautiful horses and many other attractions. Tuesday will be climaxed with the Horse Show at 8 p.m., followed by the fireworks display.

Wednesday's highlight will be the selection and crowning of the 1968 Nevada County Fair Queen, sponsored by the B&PW Club and the selection and crowning of Little Miss Nevada County, sponsored by the Jaycees.

On Thursday at 6:45 p.m., the Dog Show will be held and at 8 p.m. will be the appearance of the Florida Boys Quartet. The Fair Association feels that they were indeed fortunate in being able to present such a well-known group as the Florida Boys as the special entertainment for the citizens of Nevada County. Their performance will be enjoyed by all ages and should be a fine closing for this year's fair.

Rev. F. Gladwin Connell of Little Rock, formerly an associate pastor of the Hope Church, will be the guest minister. W. E. "Dub" Brown of Midland, Texas will be the song leader.

Slight Lull in Fighting in Vietnam

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — Two small skirmishes were reported on the fringes of Tay Ninh City today, and enemy troops ambushed a U.S. convoy farther out, but U.S. advisers said it appeared that enemy forces had pulled back for the moment.

The fighting was reported on the southwestern and southeastern edges of the city as 2,000 South Vietnamese paratroopers and marines swept through areas that Viet Cong and North Vietnamese infiltrators had occupied Wednesday.

South Vietnamese military headquarters in Saigon said: "The situation is now calm in Tay Ninh City. . . There is no major fighting."

Enemy troops opened up with small arms on a convoy from the U.S. 25th Infantry Division six miles to the south along route 22, the major highway leading from Tay Ninh to Saigon, 45 miles to the southeast. The Americans returned the

Berlin Threat Keeps U.S. on the Alert

By FRED HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top U.S. officials say they lack any firm evidence that the Soviet Union intends to start trouble over Berlin, but they are on alert for such a move because of U.S.-Russian tensions.

Attention was focused on Berlin when President Johnson in a speech Tuesday warned the Soviet union that "the use of force and the threat of force will not be tolerated in areas . . . like Berlin."

The officials described Johnson's statement as a precautionary action. "There is no hard indication of any Soviet move to put the squeeze on West Berlin," one official said.

"But it's a constant apprehension any time anything happens to sour relations between the United States and the Russians. "It's a very easy place for them to cause us trouble. It is something they can turn on and off."

There has been speculation in certain Pentagon quarters that the Russians might choose this time to apply new pressure on the United States, Britain and France to weaken their hold in West Berlin.

This speculation grows out of worsening U.S.-Russian relations resulting from the Soviet Union's occupation of Czechoslovakia and an attendant Warsaw Pact military building in East

Presbyterians to Hear Guest Minister

The regional director of Christian Education for the Presbyterian Synod of Arkansas will be the guest minister at the local Presbyterian church Sunday morning, according to an announcement by the pulpit supply committee.

The Rev. J. Harold Jackson of Little Rock, served Pastors at Arkansas eight years ago. In Arkansas he served churches in Helena and North Little Rock before being named to his present position. He is well known throughout the state especially by young people of the church.

Professor Everett Slavens, head of the History department at Ouachita University in Arkadelphia, will bring the message on Sunday, Sept. 22. Dr. Slavens is a native of Missouri and holds three degrees from Missouri University. He has been at Ouachita for seven years and is an active layman in the Presbyterian church of Arkadelphia. He has achieved success even though he is blind.

Says Senate Bill Big Victory for Freedom of Choice School Formula

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — A bill quietly passed the U.S. Senate last Friday that would allow a continuation of desegregation by the freedom-of-choice method, said Dr. Mitchell Young of Texarkana, who heads a national organization favoring freedom of choice.

Sections of the bill direct that federal money cannot be used to compel busing of students to achieve racial balance forced abolishment of any school or to force students to attend a school against the choice of their parents.

"This is a tremendous victory for people who believe in local control of schools and freedom of choice," said Young, the head of Freedom Inc.

The bill is the belated appropriations bill for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and Labor Department.

"This essentially keeps freedom of choice," Young said. "It keeps HEW from cutting off funds and it also means the northern states have to be treated just like the South."

Civil rights officials have been quoted as saying an amendment attached to the bill means HEW would have to accept freedom-of-choice plans even if they had produced no more than token integration.

A U.S. Supreme Court decision May 27 said if freedom-of-choice is effective, "it is acceptable, but if it fails to undo segregation, other means must be used to achieve this end."

In the wake of the ruling, HEW tossed out freedom-of-choice plans for many schools. Marvin Kaplan of the Leadership Conference for Civil Rights, said, "The intentions of it (the provision) are perfectly plain—they are to get around the Supreme Court decision."

Presidential candidates Richard M. Nixon and Hubert H. Humphrey clashed head-on today over prompt Senate ratification of the multination treaty against spread of nuclear weapons.

Nixon, the Republican candidate, endorsed the treaty in a statement Wednesday but said Senate ratification should be delayed until Soviet intentions in Czechoslovakia and other European nations can be reassessed.

Humphrey, the Democratic nominee, said today the very fact that tensions have increased among the superpowers shows a need for ratifying the treaty and building other East-West bridges.

"For if nations shall finally be unable to build bridges between each other in year 23 of the nuclear age," Humphrey said in prepared remarks in Wilmington, Del., "I cannot hold much hope for the future either of ourselves or of the human family."

Nixon said in Charlotte, N.C., he favors the nuclear nonproliferation treaty although he has reservations about some of its provisions and "I hope that it can be universally adopted."

"The posture and intentions of the Soviet Union toward Czechoslovakia and other nations of central and western Europe can be reassessed at a later time to see whether circumstances will then justify our proceeding with ratification."

Nixon's statement on the treaty signed but not yet ratified in Washington, Moscow and London was distributed to newsmen as the candidate addressed Charlotte Piedmont College students on lawlessness.

"It's time for new men and new policies who will stop the rise in crime and also establish respect for law all over this country," he said. "I pledge that kind of leadership."

Humphrey aides said before Nixon's nuclear treaty statement was publicized that the vice president felt he had two good issues in the treaty and the controversial nomination of Abe Fortas as chief justice and was trying to smoke Nixon out on them.

Humphrey, who has called in the past for debates with Nixon, said in New Orleans Wednesday he is willing to debate third party candidate George C. Wallace as well.

Both Wallace and Humphrey addressed the American Legion convention in New Orleans.

Douglas Blocks Shipment of Reserves

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice William O. Douglas of the Supreme Court today blocked shipment to Vietnam of 113 Army reservists who charge they were called up illegally.

The soldiers were ticketed to start for Vietnam Friday. They won a last minute reprieve from Douglas after having been turned down late last week by both Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justice Hugo L. Black.

Their suit is believed to be the first attack on a 1966 act of Congress that permitted President Johnson to mobilize reserve units without a declaration of war or national emergency.

Douglas, ordering them kept at home until the court can consider the case next month, said the questions presented by the reservists "seem to me to be substantial ones." He acted while on vacation at Goose Prairie, Wash., telephoning his order to the court here.

The reservists are bucking the court's resistance to rule on cases growing out of the Vietnam war. One exception is a forthcoming hearing on the reclassification to I-A of a divinity student after he turned his draft card in to the Justice Department to protest the war.

The 113 soldiers, all from the Cleveland area, are in the 1002nd supply and services company at Ft. George G. Meade, Md. They were ordered to duty May 13 for two years.

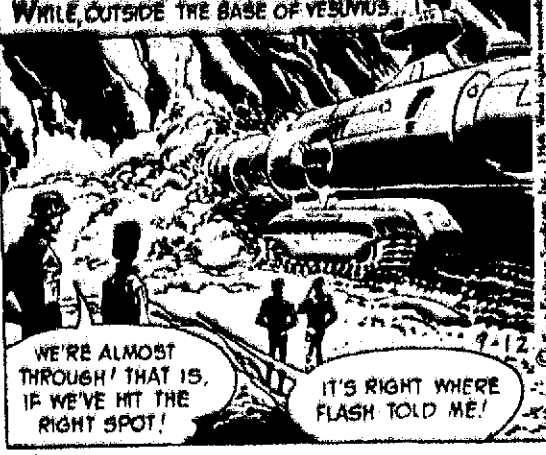

If the soldiers succeed in their suit they could scramble Johnson's callup of reservists.

Abernathy to Lead Strike of Garbagemen

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy says he will lead Atlanta's striking garbage men in major demonstrations despite a court injunction ordering the men back to work.

Abernathy, successor to the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said he may call for support from across the country for the 1,000 garbage men in their bid for a $2.50-per-hour minimum pay.

"We've got some good friends in this country. We don't have to march by ourselves," Abernathy declared, speaking at a meeting of more than 400 persons held at an Atlanta Negro Baptist church Tuesday night. Abernathy and union leader Morton Shapiro, negotiator for the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Union, were among the 80 persons arrested earlier in the day in demonstrations involving the strike. Abernathy and Shapiro were released later on bond.

"No injunction is going to collect garbage in the city of Atlanta," Shapiro said, adding, "We're going to violate the injunction that was handed to me." The injunction was issued Tuesday.

Abernathy called Atlanta a "city that has told us a lie in all these years. . . . This city that has paraded as the city too busy to hate but will not pay the men to collect garbage."

He said all the forces of SCLC will be committed to the garbage strike battle. "We're going to hear some good speeches, then we're going to have some marches. We might march up and down Peachtree Street, like Sherman marched on down. But you've got to keep these demonstrations nonviolent. For God's sakes, do not turn to violence," Abernathy said.

Union and city officials met until late in the afternoon Tuesday, but both sides said after the season that negotiations are stalled, although further meetings may be held today.

SCLC leader Hosea Williams said that Atlanta city workers in both the construction and the sewage departments are joining the strike by garbage workers. Minimum pay for Atlanta garbage workers ranges from $1.66 to $2.05 an hour, with five-year tops from $2.05 to $2.53. Most of the 1,000 workers are Negroes, and most have taken part in the strike.

The city has threatened to fire all workers who do not return to work. A city offer of a 13 percent raise next Jan. 1 has been rejected.

DeGaulle Gold Sale Bigger Than Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — France's hush-hush sale of gold to the United States in June, a humiliating act for the government of Charles de Gaulle, turns out to have been far larger than speculation indicated. The upper limit of guesses as to the size of the sale, necessitated to bolster the suddenly State, County and Municipal Employees Union, were among the 80 persons arrested earlier in the day in demonstrations involving the strike. Abernathy and Shapiro were released later on bond.

The report also showed that despite the big purchase from France, the United States experienced a $21.9 million outflow of gold during the second quarter. But this was only a tiny fraction of the $1.4 billion drain during the first quarter when the United States was still committed to supporting the price of gold on the London market.

Since March, when a two-price system for gold was set up, the United States and other gold pool nations no longer try to keep the free market price in check, instead letting it find its own level.

The traditional regulated price of $35 an ounce is now observed only in transactions between governments. Starting in 1962, France embarked on an aggressive policy of buying U.S. gold, coming around every month to exchange the dollars it held for

This eventually settled down to a pattern of purchasing at least $34 million every month and outflow that seriously hurt the level of U.S. gold holdings.

But the French were able to

Incumbents Favored by Voters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Arizona Democrats have selected Barry Goldwater's Senate race opponent and veteran Republican Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont is all but re-elected after nine state primaries that heavily favored incumbents.

Goldwater's November opponent is Roy Elson, longtime aide to Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., who is retiring after 56 years in Congress.

Elson beat two Democratic rivals Tuesday; Goldwater, the 1964 GOP presidential nominee, was unopposed.

Aiken, dean of Senate Republicans and a Vietnam policy critic, won not only the GOP nomination in Vermont to succeed himself, but the Democratic nomination as well on write-in votes.

In Wisconsin, Atty. Gen. Bronson C. La Follette of the politically famous family easily won the Democratic gubernatorial nomination to face incumbent GOP Gov. Warren P. Knowles in November.

The other primaries were in Colorado, Minnesota, Utah, Maryland, Rhode Island and New Hampshire.

Two former Wisconsin Democratic congressmen who were ousted by Republicans in 1966 won nominations for rematches. Lynn E. Stalbaum won a comeback try against incumbent Rep. Henry C. Schadeberg and John Race won one against incumbent Rep. William Steiger.

All 10 Wisconsin congressmen, and Sen. Gaylord Nelson who was unopposed won renominations.

In the Arizona gubernatorial race, former governor Sam Goddard won a three-way Democratic race and now faces incumbent Republican Gov. Jack R. Williams, who was unopposed.

In the Vermont gubernatorial race, Deane C. Davis won the Republican nomination to oppose Democratic Lt. Gov. John J. Daley.

Former Colorado Gov. Steve McNichols, in a political comeback, won the Democratic nomination to challenge incumbent Republican Sen. Peter R. Dominick, who was unopposed.

All eight Minnesota U.S. representatives came through their renomination bids unscathed. Only Reps. Donald M. Fraser and John A. Blatnik had primary opposition.

Utah Atty. Gen. Phil Hansen and state Development Director Milton Wellenmann traded leads in a race undecided as vote counting continued today for the Democratic nomination to oppose incumbent GOP Sen. Wallace F. Bennett.

In Maryland, Rep. Charles McC. Mathias breezed to the Republican nomination to oppose incumbent Democratic Sen. Daniel B. Brewster, also an easy winner.

The other seven of Maryland's U.S. representatives unofficially won renomination but Democratic Rep. George H. Fallon's victory was a photo-finish with a margin of less than 1,000 votes.

Rhode Island Democratic Rep. Fernand St. Germain won renomination and now faces Republican challenger Lincoln Almond, a town administrator.

In New Hampshire, incumbent Republican Sen. Norris Cotton crushed an opponent and now takes on Democratic Gov. John W. King, House Speaker Walter R. Peterson won the GOP gubernatorial nomination; the Democrats picked Emile R. Brassiere, a county attorney.

Bake Ham Slices With Grapes

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food Editor

We received a letter yesterday from a woman noted for her search of food bargains. She reports on her latest—slices from a shank of ham with grapes. We followed her advice. Now we pass it on to you. We feel certain you will enjoy it, too, and save a little money.

BAKED HAM SLICES WITH GRAPES

Buy two slices of ham (shank end) each slice one-inch thick, cut on the bias. The "on-the-bias" cut is important.

Place one ham slice in a shallow baking pan and cover it with a layer of grapes. Top them with 2 tablespoons light brown sugar, well-scattered, and add a second layer of grapes and 2 more tablespoons sugar. Press firmly, squashing grapes only to bursting point. Add the second slice of ham. Pour 1/2-cup water in bottom of pan and set into 350-degree oven for 45 minutes.

Drizzle natural juice in bottom of pan over ham. Serve on platter garnished with miniature grape clusters. Serves eight.

Jury Orders New Probe in Hoffa Case

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A special grand jury has been ordered to investigate charges that conspirators in three states have offered bribes to witnesses whose testimony sent Teamsters President James R. Hoffa to jail.

U.S. District Court Judges Frank Gray Jr. and William E. Miller ordered the probe Wednesday as a result of testimony by Walter Sheridan, a former Justice Department investigator.

Sheridan, who was with the Justice Department when the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., was attorney general, testified last month that efforts have been made to bribe Edward Grady Partin, a Baton Rouge, La., teamsters official, and Robert Vick, a former Nashville policeman.

Sheridan said he had been offered $1 million to change statements he made while investigating the Hoffa case. Sheridan did much of the investigative work which led to Hoffa's 1964 jury-tampering conviction in Chattanooga.

Hoffa, who is serving an eight-year term at the federal prison in Lewisburg, Pa., was found guilty of tampering with the jury which tried him on a conspiracy charge in Nashville in 1962. The first trial, in which Hoffa was accused of conspiring to divert union funds, ended with a deadlocked jury.

Judges Miller and Gray also ordered the U.S. attorney's office and other federal agencies to launch an investigation into statements made by Sheridan and Earl Wingo, a former official of Nashville Teamsters Local 327 who also testified against Hoffa.

Sheridan's testimony of a bribe offer came last month during a hearing on a motion to overturn the 3 1/2-year prison sentence of Z. T. Osborn Jr., Hoffa's Nashville lawyer who also was convicted of jury-tampering.

"During the course of the proceeding," the judges said, "there were statements by at least two witnesses—Walter Sheridan and Earl Wingo—concerning efforts assertedly having occurred in the state of Tennessee, the state of Louisiana and the District of Columbia to bribe and intimidate government witnesses."

Sheridan testified that since Hoffa's 1962 trial, there has been "a concerted, intensive effort to intimidate, bribe and corrupt government witnesses and others... which continues to this day."

He added, "they actually did bribe several government witnesses in Chattanooga."

Wingo testified that James Harding, identified as a Washington associate of the Teamsters president, said Hoffa had authorized him to offer Vick $25,000 if Vick would stipulate he was paid to testify.

Osborn lost his attempt to have his conviction overturned. U.S. District Court Judge Marion Boyd of Memphis said he found no evidence that Vick had been paid for his testimony.

During the Osborn hearing, Sheridan said he once had been given $3,000 by Stephen Smith, a brother-in-law of Kennedy, to lend to Vick. But the investigator said he returned the money to Smith after questioning the wisdom of such a loan.

Vick, whose testimony was credited with gaining the conviction of Osborn, said that the Justice Department had given him money for expenses incurred in the investigation, but had paid him no fee.

Talmadge Is Big Winner in Georgia

By DON MCKEE
Associated Press Writer
ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., has won renomination to the Senate by a margin of nearly 3-1 votes. His opponent, Maynard Jackson, a Negro, got more than 100,000 votes and said this represented a moral victory.

"Georgia told the world that any American—black or white, rich or poor, liberal or conservative—can run for public office in this state," Jackson said. Talmadge said, "I profoundly appreciate this vote of confidence in the Talmadge record."

Returns from 1,006 of 2,011 precincts gave Talmadge 322,897 votes, Jackson 112,357. Winner of the Republican nomination for the U.S. Senate apparently was Earl Patton Jr., 41, an Atlanta manufacturer's representative. Returns from 766 of 2,011 precincts gave Patton 15,418, State Sen. Jack Sells of Atlanta 10,379.

Two Democratic congressmen won renomination and former congressman Charles L. Weller gained nomination again in an attempt to retrieve his seat. Weller withdrew two years ago rather than keep a party loyalty pledge and support gubernatorial nominee Lester Maddox, now governor.

Major interest centered on Jackson's challenge of Talmadge, 55, former governor and longtime power in politics and son of Eugene Talmadge, who was elected governor four times.

In conceding the election defeat to Talmadge, Jackson said achieved. "It was the first statewide race by a Negro candidate since Reconstruction."

Jackson said he probably would have lost in any case but was "deeply disappointed and grieved for those who did not have the opportunity to express their desires at the ballot box because of improper conduct on the part of some officials."

He did not explain the remark, or identify the officials. His share of the primary votes was running about 25 per cent—about double the percentage polled by Talmadge's last opponent. In the 1962 primary, challenger Henry M. Henderson, an Atlanta attorney, got about 12 per cent of the vote.

Jackson, 30, a lawyer, was unknown politically before this campaign, a factor adding weight to his showing against a man long considered virtually invincible in Georgia. Jackson stumped across the state, hunting votes in the rural farm strongholds of Talmadge, as well as in urban centers, appealing to whites and Negroes.

The states estimated 1.8-million voters include about 340,000 Negroes.

Number of War Casualties Drops Sharply

SAIGON (AP) — American, South Vietnamese and enemy casualties all dropped sharply last week, back to the level that prevailed during the prolonged lull in ground fighting in July and early August. The weekly casualty reports by the allied commands indicated that the war might be tapering off slightly again after two weeks of intensified combat.

The U.S. Command said 196 Americans were killed in action and 1,400 were wounded, with 681 of the latter hospitalized. These figures were about half those for the previous week.

The U.S. Command reported 1,664 of the enemy were killed last week, less than half the enemy losses reported for the previous week.

South Vietnamese casualties were 325 killed, 1,081 wounded and 60 missing, also a marked drop.

The week's figures brought total American casualties reported for the war to 27,704 killed, 91,263 wounded and hospitalized and 81,926 wounded and treated in the field.

The total enemy dead reported since Jan. 1, 1961, is 392,585, the U.S. Command said.

TV NOTEBOOK

By JOAN CROSBY
NEA Entertainment Editor

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — His name is known to connoisseurs of fine theatrical performances both on and off Broadway and his face is known to the very vocal Star Trek fans as a result of his having appeared as Mr. Spock's father in an episode of that series.

Despite this, Mark Lenard is neither a name nor a face that is easily identified. He hopes a semivillainous role in a new lighthearted ABC-TV series, Here Come the Brides, will remedy this.

Mark Lenard
Looking for identity.

As an actor in New York for 15 years, Lenard says he had "second, third and fourth thoughts about doing a TV series. The part is not the lead and I wondered if I should accept it. But I came here to be established and TV and feature films are the only way to do that. I couldn't get good parts in feature films, so that left TV. I have exposure, and my name is connected with a weekly series."

When he first arrived in Hollywood, Mark landed with an agency that treated him "as a distinguished New York actor. They sat back and waited for people to come hire the distinguished New York actor. And so I left the distinguished agency, got another one and have been doing surprisingly well since."

In the case of Dack Rambo, a handsome and extremely nice young man who costars with Walter Brennan on ABC-TV's The Guns of Will Sonnett, he was a regular on TV before he knew anything about acting.

Dack and his twin brother Dirk (who was killed a year ago in a car crash), were discovered by Loretta Young and signed to play her twin sons in her second TV series.

"We got popular," Dack says, "and thought we would take off. All of a sudden the show went off and our success was taken away. I realized it's so easy for that to happen, so you just keep a level head. There is always someone just as eager and able around to take over."

Now, with Walter Brennan as mentor, Dack is taking advantage of his opportunity and learning a great deal about acting. He says he is very ambitious, and his dream is to appear in a Broadway musical.

"I've often thought about what instills this ambition which I have had since I was very young. I decided that being a twin was part of it. Being a twin is almost like being a celebrity. Everyone always makes a fuss over twins. Also, I was always aware of how the people with more money than we had lived and I wanted that. So we made every effort to get away, wanting a kind of recognition of our own."

Losing an identical twin is a shocking experience which can't be fully understood by those who aren't twins. But Dack has survived with dignity and often refers to his brother in conversation.

"I always felt I was more disciplined in show business than he. He wanted to go out and have a good time. Dack had more fun than I did."

Hudson's Minstrel Sparks Smalltown Spirit

By AILEEN SNOODY

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Recognizing that speaking out is part of youth's "thing," the Empire State this summer sent a '68-style minstrel, meandering along the Hudson. The job of Don McLean, 22, of New Rochelle, was to spark response to the question: "How do you feel about this place?"

McLean at first was called a Hudson Troubadour. He is thankful this tag was dropped somewhere between Mt. Marcy, the Hudson's source, and the final stop in the 46 small and large communities he spent a few hours in during his six-week trek.

The venture was sponsored by the New York State Council on the Arts and represented the first effort of the council to fund an actual performance. The council, started in 1960, considers itself the oldest promoter of fine arts in the United States and provided grants to others to set up their own programs to encourage interest in music, theater, literature and art.

At least the use of a folk-singer and lyricist who "really likes to talk to people and have them bend my ear" is a step toward renewing local interest.

The project was unusual. The goal, simple yet complex. It was to encourage town discussions among the young and their elders and to carry ideas, in a sense, from town to town.

"At first I was skeptical about being sponsored by the state," McLean admits. "I didn't want to be saddled with the title 'troubadour' and I expected to be laughed at and thrown sticks at."

was that the Hudson areas he covered "were as bad as everyone said they were" and it gave him the feeling of sadness.

"I have a respect for the people along the Hudson and I like their values but... That 'but' is explained in his observations that if the people don't do something about their communities—"you can feel the hostility in the towns where the city fathers don't care"—the area will become a ghetto. "The seeds of tension and dislike are there. You can push people only so far and they will snap."

McLean is articulate like so many who espouse the semi-hippy pose today. He has a long hairdo but his clothes are laundered. He felt he was whitewashed by another interviewer for saying such things. His concern this summer was to get the youth of a town to open up. When some did he found that a great number "were bigoted, knew it and were proud of it."

A major problem, McLean found during his chats with those who came to hear him sing, "was the youth who thought their town a drag. In some, the kids lived in a dead community so long that they have given up trying to change things. They get an education and get out. Those who come back don't come back for the right reasons."

Not all was downbeat, he adds. In some communities youth, some with state funds, cleaned up the beach, for example, or persuaded city fathers to let them set up their own recreation program.

Whether the summer's project, the brainchild of Kenneth G. Dewey of the council, will have lasting impact on young and old along the Hudson is yet to be seen.

The experience did impress McLean, he admits, and the mayors and town fathers who "discovered that if they listened the kids made sense."

Will other states pick up the skein of an idea to save towns that are just sitting

A few songs and an exchange of ideas marks a stop in Rensselaer, N.Y., for Don McLean (with guitar). Small groups of all ages heard and talked with him about their communities on lawns, beaches and waterfronts in his wanderings down the Hudson River, sponsored by the New York Council on the Arts. The goal was to interest citizens in revitalizing their communities.

there?" Those involved in the project hope so.

Czechs Plead for Refugees to Return

By PETER REHAK
Associated Press Writer
PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's government leaders assured their people Tuesday night that due process of law will be observed despite the Soviet occupation and appealed for the return of refugees from abroad.

There have been rumors of arrests since the Soviet bloc troops invaded Aug. 20, but the leaders' proclamation said: "We reiterate that we shall never allow deformations of violations of our legal code such as we were witness to."

This apparently referred to the nation's 20 years of Stalinist-type rule, which ended in January when Alexander Dubcek became the Communist party chief.

Dubcek and other top leaders proclaimed Tuesday night: "Personal immunity is guaranteed. . . . No one can be taken into custody except in cases foreseen by law and following the decision of the court or the prosecutor."

The proclamation also appealed to Czechoslovaks—including many intellectuals—who have sought political asylum in Austria, Switzerland and other West European countries in the last three weeks.

"Staying abroad," it said, "multiplies distrust and foreign propaganda and makes impossible first-hand information on the state of affairs at home. It increases helplessness and confusion. . . ."

"Your place is here. The republic needs your abilities, your knowledge and experience, your creative work. Your fellow citizens are waiting for you and are resolutely and selflessly continuing to build up their homeland for themselves and their children."

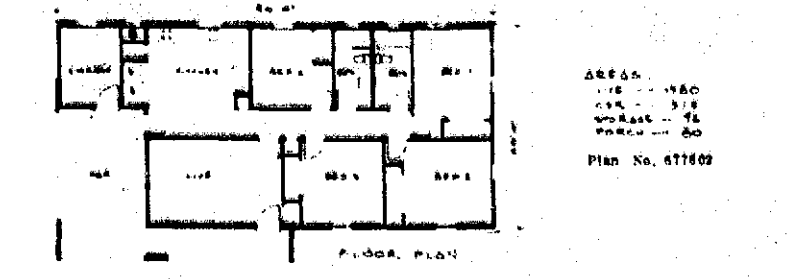

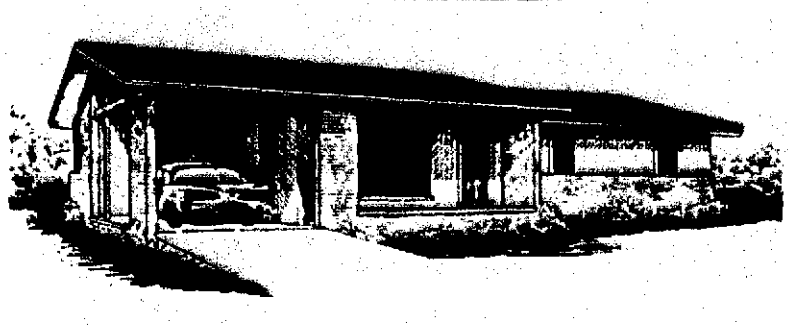

The Czechoslovak government has been issuing exit permits, and anyone with both a permit and a visa to a Western country is still permitted to leave, but there are signs this will change soon. Soviet troops near the Austrian border were said to be turning back foreigners who had been cleared by Czechoslovak border guards. Diplomatic sources said they expected the Czechoslovak government to close the border Sunday.

The proclamation on civil liberties was issued by Dubcek, President Ludvik Svoboda, Parliament President Josef Smrkovsky, Slovak Communist party chief Gustav Husak and Premier Oldrich Cernik after Cernik returned from more talks in Moscow.

Cernik received a promise of deliveries of Soviet natural gas and signed an economic protocol. Communist sources in Moscow said those were the chief subjects of the talks. It was not clear whether Cernik discussed with the Kremlin leaders the question of aid to overcome economic setbacks from the invasion.

"We shall continue to strengthen socialist order and to expand its democratic humanist character," they said.

The January road is the liberalization program which prompted the invasion by raising fears among hard-line leaders of other Soviet bloc nations

This house plan is a compacted four bedroom house with two baths, kitchen and living room all incorporated within a living area of 1380 square foot.

Each of the bedrooms are of a moderate size and include adequate clothes closets. The two bedrooms are spacious for a compact house and are arranged in such a manner as to be convenient for all members of the family.

The kitchen arrangement is L-shaped and includes generous work surfaces and storage areas. It is conveniently arranged to make the most use of space and is sufficiently large to accommodate the dining table within the kitchen area.

The washer and dryer closets are located adjacent to the back door off the carport.

The living room is large and is provided with a generous amount of glass. This living room is so arranged that it can be closed off from the balance of the house if so desired.

The plan also incorporates a carport, moderately sized storage room and provides a covered porch area between the carports and front entrance.

The plan was developed to meet the needs of a growing family and was designed in such a manner to keep costs at a minimum. It makes use of both wood and brick and blends these materials pleasantly. The floor is wood frame to minimize cost and yet provide the best possible solutions for insulating to provide for maximum comfort.

If you have need for a house plan of this nature, you may obtain complete working drawings by requesting Plan No. 677602 from the Hempstead County Agricultural Extension office. Copies of this plan are free of charge and may be used for estimating cost or for construction details.

Agnew Seems to Be Man With Hatchet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The man with the political hatchet in hand in the Republican presidential campaign camp seems to be Spiro T. Agnew.

As the No. 2 man on the GOP ticket, Maryland Gov. Agnew chopped away at Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, the Democratic nominee, with the kind of spirited abandon enemies of Richard M. Nixon have attributed to him in the past.

Nixon, the top GOP candidate, obviously is trying to avoid being tagged as a bare knuckles campaigner. He speaks kindly of Humphrey, while challenging the vice president on the issues and the record of the Johnson administration.

Agnew, on the other hand, made it perfectly clear he is ready for political fistfights when he thinks the other side is inviting it. He characterized himself as a "counter fighter," a belligerent who awaits his opponent's blow and retaliates with one of his own.

What stirred Agnew to political anger was Humphrey's observation that the Nixon-Agnew team seemed to be going for a military, rather than a diplomatic, settlement of the Vietnam war.

To Agnew, Humphrey's assessment that Nixon was taking a hard line on Vietnam added up to "annual and unwarranted attack" on the Republican nominee—to be answered in kind despite all of the lofty promises from both sides that there would be no resort to personalities.

The Maryland governor quickly ticked off a series of indictments against Humphrey. He stumbled once by naming Nixon as the object of his attack but quickly recovered when reporters began laughing.

Agnew said Humphrey had turned "squishy soft" in an effort to recapture Democratic dissidents who opposed his nomination and who want to "disengage in Vietnam at any cost."

Indirectly, he hung an appeal label on the vice president for a suggestion that some withdrawals of U.S. troops could begin late this year or early in 1969.

Applying a little poetic license to politics, he said Humphrey was casting himself in the role of Neville Chamberlain at Munich and Nixon was standing firmly with Winston Churchill.

From what he described as a position smacking of "peace at any price," he said Humphrey was "trying to move back into an equivocal stance" on the war.

He said Humphrey was "attempting to lift the American people up to the prospect of peace when there is no evidence that peace is in sight."

Asked if he wasn't being a bit rough in the clinches, Agnew replied: "When my team is kicked in the groin, I don't stand by and take it."

ROOF GUTTERS AND DOWNSPOUTS NEED PERIODIC MAINTENANCE

By MR. FIX
Even if your house is brand new, if you neglect your gutters you can't expect them to last much more than eight or 10 years if they are of galvanized metal; about 20 years if they are copper or aluminum. And this is under normal conditions.

Gutters and downspouts should be cleaned out at least twice a year, in the spring and fall, and any other time they seem to be clogged.

Get rid of all loose debris: leaves, dirt, seeds. Scrape out caked mud. Flush out with a garden hose. Use a plumber's snake if the downspout is clogged. Often running a stream of water through will clear it.

Once they are cleaned, inspect the gutters carefully. All signs of rust should be cleaned up. Use a wire brush, then sand. The inside of the gutter should then be coated with an asphalt paint, such as roof coating. If you are down to the bare metal on the outside, paint first with a good primer, then with house paint to match the rest of the surface.

Tiny holes should be cleaned carefully. Break away all the rotted material. If quite small, the asphalt may be enough to seal it. One trick is to put a bit of burlap or aluminum foil down in the wet roof coating and then give it another coat.

A more durable patch and one that is suitable for larger holes can be made from fiberglass cloth and resin. The sort of patching material sold for patching auto bodies. Just follow the instructions, generally soaking the fiberglass in resin and then applying it to the gutter. Smooth it to make it match the shape of the metal. Give it a final coat of resin to coat all the edges.

Very important is a strainer of some sort at the top of the downspout. This will keep leaves, twigs and dirt from flowing down the downspout, clogging it and the sewer lines as well.

It is especially important to have gutters clean and in good repair in the fall. Winter's ice and snow put an extra burden on them. The extra weight of such a build-up could tear them right off the house.

Spiders' Silk
Spiders capture insects as large as wasps and hornets by spitting silk which ensnares them inescapably, serving to store them for later use as food, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.
